Abstract
Usability is an important aspect in the software development. Technologies provide us with scenarios which bring tools to support this kind of evaluation in a collaborative manner if people are dispersed geographically. This paper exposes a mechanism to develop usability collaboratory, integrating resources, artifacts and people necessary to perform usability testing.

Keywords
Collaboratory, Collaborative Usability Testing.