Abstract
This paper is the chapter dedicated to the scientific method and the clinical method in the authors' Handbook "Teaching of Clinics". Philosophical principles are presented about the scientific method and its steps. The relationships between the clinical method and the medical record are discussed, also the role of technology and the most frequent mistakes applying the method in clinical practice. Finally, the teaching of clinical method and appropriate scenarios are discussed.

Keywords
Scientific method, Clinical method, Medical record, Clinical teaching.