Abstract
Ancient Greek cosmogony, as well as many others, places Chaos in the primeval origin of the Universe. From the beginning of times, Chaos (is feminine) is accompanied by Gea (the Earth) and Eros (Love); with this explanation it is possible to incarnate the Universe, the Earth, Nature, Life and Human beings with the Gods and supernatural forces. Eros represents the desire that brings about life, which is worried about the achievement of the best conditions to satisfy needs and the development of human potentialities. From the beginning of history in order to achieve harmony and peace it was necessary to manage Chaos, the complexity and conflicts, and to look for the greatest, fairest and longest-lasting balances.
