Abstract
This article approaches the process of development of the political project for education of Liberacion Nacional Party (PLN in Spanish) at the time of the latter's foundation during the decade of the 1950's. The approach is carried out from the perspective of critical hermeneutics through the analysis of the party's political discourse, taking as object of study the party's Fundamental Charter of 1951. Its contents are analyzed in contextual reference with the historical circumstances in which it originates, in the foundations of PLN's political ideology and its social-democratic political project.
