Abstract

This paper is a descriptive research about the women image in Venezuelan TV spots, through the analysis of roles, gender stereotypes and physical features. They show the predominance of sensual women, their reclusion in domestic environments and the representation of white, young and brunette women.

Keywords
Advertisting, TV spots, women, television, gender, women image