Abstract
The article presented has the finality of making a comparative analysis that reveals the actual state of the question of the moral damage resulting from the breach of contract in the jurisprudence of the highest national court, in relation to the opinions delivered by the Spanish Supreme Court, with reference to the last five years.

Keywords
Breach of contract, moral damage, compensation, jurisprudence.