Abstract
The main objective of this article is to demonstrate the possibilities of using internet as a tool for the cooperation and interchange between professors. It comments about the experience of a research that gave the opportunity to link 10 professors and researchers from five countries in an explorative study about the relationship between professional motivation of physical education professors and the quality of their classes. The obtained results allowed not only getting primary conclusions about the existing relationship among the studied variables, but contribute to the professional development of the members of the group.

Keywords
Professional development, collaboration, exchange, teamwork, professional motivation, quality of the classes.