Abstract
This article will approach from a dialectical perspective, some of the main critical debates to settle down with regard to the volunteerism concept and its use from a double vision, the neoliberal vision versus social movement. To approach in social organizations discussions such the one that now is presented is necessary in order to clarify the role that organizations and volunteers play in the society. It is bet by this critical conception of volunteerism to define an option as a transformer social. Movement.

Keywords
Volunteerism, social participation, social movements.