Abstract
The article aims to understand the role that policies of social and solidarity economy play in the social-assistance configuration in present-day Argentina, describing a group of governmentality mechanism.

Keywords
Social policy, social and solidarity economy, social assistance, self-employment, governmentality.