Abstract
The results of the project for design of virtual centre of technological information of sugar are presented. The main purposes of this project are oriented to create conditions that ensure that the availability of information inside AZCUBA organization. The growth of the Virtual Library of Derivatives, the compatibility among libraries in sugar sector and the development of a new platform taking into account the higher volumes of information are proposed.

Keywords
Virtual library, libraries management, information sciences.