Abstract

Medicine as a science and art it complement each other in everyday practice. When we comprehend the attribute of "plasticity" of the immune system, we will be able to incline with respectful and reverential when we think in the concept of Creation.

Keywords

Medicine, art, mysticism, science, immune system, plasticity, creation.