Abstract
Changes that humanity has had in recent years, show a world so in need of regulations, due to social changes as a result of globalization. In the face of the so-called third scientific and technical revolution, we need to look at fundamental institutions of civil law, which are impacted by scientific developments, globalization and global opening.

Keywords
Civil institutions, human rights, law and technology.