Abstract
Conclusions to the workshop on ready-to use (RTU) products for parenteral nutrition. An approximation is done to the definition and advantages in comparison to other parenteral nutrition models. Issues related to management, RTU composition and hospital- and home-based indications are highlighted.

Keywords