Abstract
We present some results obtained in the study of two on-line educative experiences. They took place during the courses 2000 and 2002 with Spanish university students. Our main goal was to know both the way of working in a telematic network and the interpersonal relations motivated by the work in a collaborative style.

Keywords
e-learning, collaborative work.