Abstract
This is a program created by MOMA-PS1 in 2000 in New York. In its first South American version, the initiative aims to promote young talent through construction: during summer, the installation hosts music performances and open-air activities. This time it was a formless, hanging tent and its shadowy interior.

Keywords
Architecture-Chile, ephemeral architecture, wood, tent, public space, urban furniture.