Abstract

This housing complex is part of the reconstruction works after the 2010 earthquake in Chile. It incorporates seismically isolated foundations and a perimetral frame that allows an open plan and increases the flexibility of each unit.

Keywords

Architecture – Chile, high-rise collective housing, seismic insulation, concrete buildings.