Abstract
In the current environment of the constant change, the knowledge and skill acquisition it turns in a constant for workers and enterprises of every productive sectors. These competences acquire and try to perfection in the size that exist an effective interaction between the educative institutions, sector enterprises and governments. In the present paper we discuss the cluster software case of the three states of Mexico and the networking formation between the local actors like an central element, who strengthen the dynamic innovation in different country regions.

Keywords
Software, Networks, innovation.