Abstract

The present study has the idea to present and to include/understand better the territory of the municipality of Texcoco de Mora. A brief review of its history appears, its main environmental problems, the territorial and sociopolitical characteristics that share with neighboring municipalities. The characteristics of ground occupation are showed, with irregular establishments, the economic and educative conditions of its population, its infrastructure, the Texcoco Lake, its political life and the influence in the weave and conformation of the municipality in this region.

Keywords

Texcoco, State of México, population, environment