Abstract

On this article the author propose the inclusion of ethical reason in legislative activity. Hence, it is developed its concept as much as its instrumentation with the aim of succeed on its practice. So that is made a reflection about the importance of legislative power on contemporary doctrine, along with the reasons for believing it the principal de vice of democracy. Thus, the corruption is presented as the element that has provoked the lack of confidence of the citizens as well as the inefficiency on the organization and performance of such legislative power. Therefore it is concluded that ethics could be the instrument that help to improve the system.

Keywords

Ethic, Legislative power, corruption.