Abstract

This article refers to a study based in know which is the perception of the women watched on his insertion on the labor market. Concretely in the text the comparative one is established between the perception that the women had object of study in the year 2005 and the perception that the same women have in the year 2010 hereby, on the one hand we see that the women have had labor path in these five years and on the other hand we observe if the perception of these women has changed and if it is like that; in what sense.

Keywords

Moslem woman, veil, hijab, labor market, work, discrimination.