Abstract

It's described a dead calf since her birth, halfbreed from Holstein x Cebu, behind a natural gestation in eutothic parturition on time that showed the two-headed presence such as a congenital malformation very excelling. That bicephalous calf was accompanied by other phenotypic alterations. This case proves that in incomplete Siamese donot exist the duplicated parts and the evupling of are verified by chance.

Keywords

Congenital malformation Variable expressiveness Teratology Eutothic parturition Etiology