Abstract
This article carries out an analysis of the economic crisis management by the Carazo administration, taking into account macroeconomic aspects and context that could had an impact on economic activity in Costa Rica, and in particular, in the Alfaro Ruiz town. Subsequently, through interviews his impressions of this crisis, the economic situation were overcome in those years and its perception regarding the widespread atmosphere of crisis in the country is rebuilt to the Alfaro Ruiz milk producers.

Keywords
Economic crisis, Carazo administration, livestock, milk producers, Alfaro Ruiz.