Abstract

The aymara population of Iquique is subjected to strong tensions due to the impacts of the chilean modernization process readjusting itself in political and social terms. This situation, must be made evident so that its citizenship be strengthened and state policies have more relevancy.

Keywords

Society - Andean community.