Abstract
This article intends to analyse the role of Psychology and psychologists in the field of drug prevention. To do so, the development of this issue in Spain is reviewed, highlighting some of the main contributions made by the Spanish psychologists in order to improve the expertise and the practice in the field. Lastly, the authors try to define the role that the professionals in the sector should play in drug prevention, as well as the requirements in training that it involves.

Keywords
Psychology, psychologists, contributions, drug prevention, training, Spain