Abstract

The present article shows a panorama of the human evolution initiating in the old civilizations like Sumerian, Babylonian, Chinese and Greek, happening through the military organizations and of the catholic church, crossing the average age and finalizing in the industrial revolution stages in which the qualities or characteristics of the leaders were identified who at the present time are due to harness to generate positive impact in the society.

Keywords

Leadership, evolution, quality