Abstract
The paper deals with Latin American youth and their special protagonism in three different stages: South American Independence, Cordoba’s reformist movement, and the alterglobalisation phenomenon during our days. Adopting dissident attitudes and against authoritative principles, those students struggled for modern teaching, scientific advances and the opening of university to people and society.

Keywords
Independence, alterglobalisation, university, Cordoba’s reformist movement