Abstract

The next meet is referred to the proposed education developed by Paulo Freire (1970), which falls within the principles of the philosophy of liberation in Latin America, for this work came to a kind of deductive research, the which is developed under the ethical principles that represent the same reasoning. So it was necessary to perform a literature review and documentary about the ethical principles in education and the tenets of philosophy before identified. In this regard, namely that the foundations laid down by the author are based on rational critic characterizing men as being thoughtful, which is capable of reasoning acts of human life from a problematizing education, that contain in their philosophy of existing criticism, and the vindication of the human body as a transformer.

Keywords

Problematicizing education, ethics, culture, humanization.